A LIBERAL OFFER.

Its Effect Upon the Customer to Whom It Was Made.

A business man of Dayton, O., tells this story of some commercial friends of his:

A customer who bought in a small way from the wholesalers and whose credit was not of the sort known as gilt edged visited the city and purchased a $2,800 bill of goods, paying $2,500 in cash and giving his note for the remaining $300.

After the transaction had been closed and the paper and currency had changed hands the customer said:

"Now, after a deal of that size it is customary to give a purchaser a present. Come across with it."

"Well, I'll throw in a pair of suspenders," laughed the salesman temporizingly.

"A pair of suspenders, eh? Say, quit fooling. I really mean it. I expect you to do something in acknowledgment of my patronage."

The salesman went to the manager with the problem, and the manager said:

"Well, if he feels that way about it we might encourage him a bit. We'll do something that ought to please him greatly. Give him back his $300 note. Make him a present of his paper. That will make him a cash customer and raise his credit and save him money besides."

The salesman went back, pleased to be the bearer of such joyful tidings of liberality in business.

"Well, sir," he said, "we've arranged about that present, all right. Here," with a flourish, "is your note. We give it back to you."

The customer did not seem enthusiastic. Instead, without looking at the note he asked:

"Is it indorsed?"

"No," said the salesman in astonishment.

"Then I guess you better gimme the suspenders," said the disappointed customer.—Chicago News.

DEATH RECORD.

Grande from the home of Mrs. Ingels, Wednesday afternoon, burial in the La Grande cemetery.

Anna Ochsner was born in Switzerland in 1854. She came to America with her parents at the age of seven years, settling in Wisconsin, where she married Otto Bodmer. They came to the Grande Ronde valley in 1887 and a few years later moved to this county, settling at Paradise, where Mr. Bodmer died 10 years ago. She was the mother of eight sons and two daughters, of whom the following survive: H. A. of La Grande, A. R. and Vern of Joseph, Otto of Walla Walla, Ernest and O. E. of Paradise, and Mrs. Linda Chandler of Baker City. All were present at the funeral.

Mrs. Bodmer was a Christian woman in the largest and best sense of the word. A loving and affectionate wife and mother, her children are jewels that testify to her life work. Many friends sympathize with the bereaved ones.

DIED IN WALLA WALLA.

From Walla Walla Union, Nov. 6.

In the death of Edward A. Tinsley at his home, 215 West Alder street, yesterday morning, this city loses one of its most respected citizens. He died after a prolonged illness of lung trouble.

The deceased was born in Missouri, February 17, 1879, and with his parents moved to the Walla Walla country in the year 1887, living there until last April, when he moved to this city. On October 9, 1904, he married Miss Florence Edgman, two children being born as a result of this union.

Besides his wife and children the deceased is survived by his father, F. P. Tinsley, of Dayton; a brother, C. E. Tinsley, of this city; and two sisters who are Mrs. D. W. Dorrance of Lowden, and Mrs. W. C. Dorrance of Joseph.

The funeral will be held this afternoon at 2 o'clock from MacMartin's chapel, Rev. R. C. Brooks officiating. Interment will be in the city cemetery.

WAGON JOURNEY TO CENTRAL CALIFORNIA

September 24 we drove to Fall City located on the banks of Fall river and made camp over night. Here it rained all night and until noon the next day. After dinner we started on. We are now finding a good deal of fruit, it being about the first fresh fruit we have found since leaving home. We certainly enjoyed it. We all have good appetites by this time. We find ourselves picking up quite fast in flesh, except Mrs. Davis, who took sick shortly after starting on our trip; the cause we could not account for unless it was the change of water. Shortly after starting we missed our road and got off on a logging road; not knowing it at the time, we climbed a steep hill that was all rocks. We thought it the roughest public road we ever traveled but we kept going on it for seven miles and finally ran entirely out of a road. So we then took a back track, and started on the right road. We are now camped at the head of Burney Valley and are making tracks fly. We have come a distance of 9 miles today. Mr. Wortman who drove the horse we gave away, was now missing him, and taking it pretty hard. The girls were joshing him so much on his missing companion they threatened to get some black crepe for his hat, but could not get any at the present time so they let it go. Shortly after leaving our camp grounds there we started thru the Fall River canyon which was 9 miles through. The Fall river ran down through it on one side and the road went down the opposite side; very few feet the river making falls made it very beautiful through this canyon, also large rocks and cliffs of all shapes and sizes hanging over the banks and falls made it very pretty. Evergreens also mixed among the rocks. The largest fall was about 30 feet, and about 5 feet from that another fall 35 feet. All colors could be seen among the falls. After viewing this beautiful place, we went on and shortly after we left the canyon we came to several tall, sharp rocks, which looked like Indian teepees. We thought they were but as we drew closer we found them to be a soft, limey rock, but they were cut up and fire places cut in them and benches, stoves, and different things cut in them that were very interesting and amusing, which we all had to stop and examine. While we were stopped, Mr. Littleton, who had his todak with him, had the girls climb up on the tall rocks and then he took several snap-shots of them. We journeyed onward getting to Burney Valley at 4 o'clock and camped for the night.
